QUALITY CORNER

In Norwich fifty years ago the city was without any events of unusual interest. There was the regular run of business during the week. The Yacht club returned from their annual cruise. Extracts from The Bulletin's files of 70 years ago follow:

August 15, 1870: Orray Taft and Company have begun work this week to build a railroad from their mill at Taftville to the turn-out of the Norwich and Worcester road, a distance of about 600 feet. Horses alone will be used to draw the cars and the road will be only a temporary one. It will be completed in about two weeks. The Norwich Yacht club returned on Saturday from their ten-day cruise to Martha's Vineyard. The members are sunburnt and brown, with marvellous tales of their adventures. The East was the appearance of one on the street was the signal for a crowd of friends to gather and listen while the hardy salt spun his yarn.

August 16, 1870: Thomas McGrath of this city was crushed between two freight cars in Worcester on Monday and died about an hour later. Mr. McGrath had gone between the two cars to couple them and was caught. The body was brought to this city.

During a shower on Monday some of the picnic parties at the lake in Danielson drove their carriages along the shore. The weight was so great that the floor gave way and let seven horses down through. Singular as it may appear the horses and wagons were all extricated without the slightest damage.

August 17, 1870: Labor on the Laurel Hill school house, courthouse and the steamboat wharf, yesterday was unusually devoid of interest. Two of the horse railroad and the Preston bridge failed to excite.

At the meeting of the St. Mary's T. A. B. society, last evening, a unanimous vote of thanks was passed to Sylvester Egan and Patrick McCarry, the delegates to the convention at New Haven on Monday.

The German church on Franklin street is completely new. It was dedicated last week. The architect, A. J. Cutler, and a committee from the society visited the church yesterday to inspect and accept it.

August 18, 1870: The freight train from Hartford to Providence due in Williamstown about 11:30 a. m., ran off the track about a half mile above Williamstown. Six platform and four box cars were completely demolished and left in a confused mass upon the track. No one was injured.

The four cars of the horse railroad company received at Alyn's Point, have been reshipped and returned. New York in order that sundry alterations may be made in the wheels, they not being constructed according to contract. We hesitate to prophesy at what time the cars will be in operation. Market street was in a turmoil over the appearance of about a two feet serpent winding its sinuous folds around a watermelon. Its head was August 20, 1870: Friday afternoon the freight train on the New London-Norwich road met with an accident while attempting to perform a fly switch in Main street. The box cars flew off the track and were thrown directly across the track. The accident was due to the extreme heat which expanded the rails in such a way that the switchman could not work the switch.

Those grocers and others who deposit all their old papers and other refuse in Main street are attracting more attention from the public than they are aware of and if they do not succeed in getting the attention of the public authorities soon they may regret that they did not do so.

A lad of Irish descent was run over and somewhat injured near the grist mill on Thursday. There were two or three teams passing and he, engaged in play, ran suddenly in front of the horse and buggy and was knocked down and somewhat bruised. No blame is attached to the driver.

SALEM COMMUNITY COMMITTEE PLANS YEAR'S ACTIVITIES. The Community committee in Salem met on Thursday night and made the following plans for "Farm Bureau" work in that town for the coming year.

A public calling demonstration is to be held in November or December. I. J. Gifford in charge of this project.

Arrangement to be made for shipping in one or more carloads of lime. A small farm bureau meeting will be held in October. December 1, 1920, Joseph Dybb in charge.

An all-day institute to be held in December with a program of interest to both men and women. The entire committee will have charge of this meeting.

The world has more charity for dead men than it has for men who are dead broke.
